Home Occupations

Home occupations shall mean an occupation for gain or support, excluding offices-in-the-home, which shall be an incidental and subordinate use to the principal residential use and shall be restricted to the dwelling unit and accessory buildings. Home occupations shall be limited to those uses which do not interfere with the rights of other residents to quiet enjoyment of the residential neighborhood. The applicant shall be a resident of the dwelling in which the home occupation is being carried out. A home occupation shall not be staffed on-site by any person other than a resident of the dwelling.

Home Representatives

Home representatives shall mean an occupation for gain or support involving more than one representative engaged in the sale of a product line for the same manufacturer.

Two categories of Home representatives are recognized; the main supplier or distributor, and the subsidiary representative. The main supplier or distributor shall be defined as that individual, who leases directly with the manufacturer, and who looks after the interests of other representatives. A subsidiary representative is an individual who submits their product requests to a main representative, but who otherwise would limit the operation to a desk and telephone.

- The occupation shall not be permitted in a residence if, in the opinion of the Municipal Planning Commission it would be more appropriate located in a Commercial or Industrial District.
- A development permit when first issued for an Occupation in a Residential District shall expire December 31 of, the following calendar year.
- If at any time, any of the requirements for occupations in Residential Districts are not complied with, the Municipal Planning Commission may suspend or cancel a development permit for that occupation.
- A home occupation permit does not exempt the Applicant from compliance with Federal or Provincial Health or Licensing regulations or any other municipal permit requirements.
- When a permit holder moves to another location within the Town limits during the period for which their permit is valid, they shall:
 - a) Notify the Development Office of any address changes and re-apply at no additional cost.
 - b) Submit new letters of approval from adjacent neighbors.
- Not more than one (1) business vehicle used in or for the home occupation shall parked on-site or any street adjacent thereto.
